Ohio Senatorial Nominations Swept by Taft, Young

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Robert Taft Jr., son of the late "Mr. Republican," and Democratic incumbent Stephen M. Young hurdled the civil rights issue to clinch senatorial nominations in Ohio's primary.

Ted W. Brown, secretary of state and a veteran vote getter banked on his civil rights opposition in a sharp clash with Taft for the Republican nomination but failed to carry a single county in Tuesday's voting.

"The results indicate that the civil rights issue perhaps was not as important as Mr. Brown thought," Taft said in a victory statement.

Young's nomination was unintentionally challenged by ailing Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, who withdrew from the race too late to have his name removed from the ballot. Returns from 11,444 of the state's 13,311 polling places gave Taft 542,164 votes and Brown 146,798. On the Democratic side, Young polled 434,534 and Glenn 186,010.

Brown asserted in his free-swinging campaign that the civil rights bill pending in Congress "would ultimately saddle every citizen in Ohio with troublemaking hordes from the attorney general's office delving into the lives of individuals, the conduct of businesses . . . and into schools."

Taft took pride in his support of the bill in the House.

"While I'm not claiming it is perfect," Taft said, "I agree with every title of the bill."

"Ohio has employment and public accommodation laws that sue of "guaranteeing first-class citizenship for all Americans" is the most important in the nation.

Sen. Stephen M. Young

"The federal government cannot remain neutral or be a mere onlooker," the senator said. "It must extend the assurances of our constitution, declaration of independence and heritage of freedom to all Americans."

The peppery 75-year-old Young immediately girded for a showdown with Taft in the November general election. He accused the Republicans of making his U.S. Senate seat their No. 1 target nationally.

"I welcome this challenge," he said, adding Ohioans had a clear-cut choice "between a general supporter of the Johnson-Kennedy program and a general opponent."

Young also has supported civil rights legislation and has said "there cannot be any compromise on civil rights."

The big question in Ohio's political picture today was what effect the primary had on U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater's chances for support of Ohio conservatives in the Republican convention in July.

Brown had termed himself a "Goldwater-type" Republican and had assailed the 47-year-old Taft as "too liberal" to follow in the footsteps of his father, the late U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, who was known as "Mr. Republican" because of his conservatism.

Taft stood on his record in the House where he had co-sponsored the controversial civil rights bill. He referred to him

James A. Rhodes, an uncommitted favorite son, but Taft's overwhelming victory may increase party stalwarts' leaning toward former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who carried Ohio against the late President Kennedy in 1960 by more than a 250,000 vote majority.

The state's 99-vote delegation Convention is pledged to President Johnson through a stand-in, Albert S. Porter of Cleveland.

Neither party had serious contests for convention delegates.

Glenn's surprising vote caused some observers to speculate that he might return to the Ohio political scene later.

The space hero's first venture into home state politics lasted only 73 days. He suffered an inner ear injury in a fall against a bathtub here Feb. 26 and withdrew March 30 after recovery was slower than expected. Marine Corps restrictions prevented him from campaigning actively.

Reached at his home near Houston, Tex., Glenn said he was pleased that he ran "such a good race" in the senatorial primary.

But Glenn, who said he would not run even if nominated, refused to give diehard supporters any encouragement for his future participation in politics. All that he would say was that he had made no plans other than to get his health back.

Glenn did say his recovery was progressing "pretty good."

State Highway Bond Issue Passes Easily

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio voters plumped solidly for a $500-million highway bond issue Tuesday. The winning total was about 65 per cent. Only two counties, Fayette and Paulding, opposed it.

With 8,902 of the state's 13,311 polling places reporting the vote of overwhelming approval stood yes 669,546, no 358,275.

Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes was happy over the success of his second bond issue proposal in less than a year. Voters approved his $250-million

Rights Rider Vote Set Today

Many Amendments To Bill Pending

WASHINGTON (AP)—After 49 days of talk in the civil rights debate, the Senate finally reaches the voting stage today on one of the dozens of amendments pending to the bitterly disputed bill.

Only an informal agreement has been reached for this initial test. But supporters and foes of the measure said that at least one vote would be taken, probably late in the afternoon.

The vote, on a jury trial amendment of Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., will not be especially meaningful except possibly as an ice-breaker in the running debate.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was hopeful his colleagues would go ahead promptly and take all of the votes needed to dispose of the jury trial issue, finishing with it tonight or Thursday.

But he pointed out there is no assurance that this can be done. Ordinarily when the Senate begins voting on amendments to a major bill, the leaders have CLEVELAND (AP)—Richard D. Kennedy, 40, a Democratic candidate for the Congress-at-large nomination, died today at his home on the west side.

He suffered an apparent heart attack at 8 a.m. at his home. A fire rescue squad rushed Kennedy to St. John's Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Kennedy was running second in a three-man race with Charles J. Carney and Robert E. Sweeney when he collapsed.

City, County Vote Totals Show Gains

A total of 2,093 Salem and Perry Township residents cast ballots in Tuesday's primary elections. Of the total, 1,314 were Republicans and 779 Democrats.

The total vote exceeds by 508 the turnout for the last comparable election, the 1960 presidential primary.

In Columbiana County as a whole, the total recorded vote was 16,096—just 96 off the prediction made earlier by County Election Board Clerk Frank O'Hanlon.

Countywide, Republicans cast 9,484 votes and Democrats showed 6,612.

The turnout was up 322 from 15,774 cast in 1960 and a gain of 1,158 from 1962's total vote of 14,938.

Salem Democrats favored Ford Joseph, Jr. over John E. Donnelly, 522 to 221, although Joseph lost in the county in his bid for his party's nomination as candidate for state representative.

Local voters lined up with others elsewhere in the state in favoring Robert Taft, Jr. for GOP nomination for U. S. senator and Stephen M. Young on the Democratic ticket.

Salem voters gave overwhelming support to the $500 million issue for new highways, voting 1,574 to 461 in favor of the State Issue No. 1.

There were no local propositions on the ballots here yesterday.

BOSTON (AP)—Two Navy vessels—a destroyer and an aircraft carrier—collided at sea off Cape Henry, Va., early today, but no personnel was injured, the Navy reported in Boston.

Robert M. Bell of Steubenville easily won a Republican race Tuesday for a new term as 18th District Republican state central committee chairman, defeating George W. Crim of Bergholz by a whopping margin of 9,447 votes.

Their total vote for the five counties making up the congressional district was:

Bell 15,306
Crim 5,859

It was the only contest for either party in the entire district, as Don Gosney of Columbiana was unopposed for another term on the Democratic State Central Committee. Miss Esther Pinsky of Bellaire, Democrat, and Mrs. Leitha Astry of Salem, Republican, were unopposed for

Columbiana Kiwanis Hears Federal Agent

COLUMBIANA — In recognition of Law Week, Earl Brown, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent from Cleveland, related facts concerning the FBI at Monday's Kiwanis Club meeting. Police Chief William McGuckin made the introduction in behalf of program chairman, Charles Rohrer.

Brown, an FBI agent since 1941, is one of 60,000 employed by the federal government. Noting that youths under the age of 18 are responsible for half the crimes committed involving property damage, Brown said that 70 per cent of criminals are identified from 170 million finger print cards now included in the FBI's files.

According to Brown, crime in the United States costs the public $60 million a day. In conclusion, Brown stated the solution to crime prevention lies in the law of rehabilitation and stressed the need of cooperation by individuals and service clubs in aiding the FBI with its task of law enforcement.

Emil Bertolini of the Austin- town Kiwanis Club was present at the meeting. Announcements made by Gus Isackson, president, included an invitation to attend an Inter-Club meeting at Lisbon Thursday. A tour of the National Rubber Machinery Company will follow next week's dinner meeting.

ROTARIAN MAURICE Michaud gave a humorous description of his career from the time he was 14 years of age to the present at Monday's Rotary Club meeting. Tom Hess served as program chairman.

Soviet Union Matching U.S. A-Sub Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union may be building atomic-powered submarines at a rate of seven to 10 a year, U.S. sources estimate.

This would appear to about match the American production schedule.

Available records show that in the last full year, the United States constructed nine nuclear-engined submarines, either Polaris or attack ships.

This was below the planned average of one commissioning per month. That plan was upset by new and tighter construction safety requirements, established after the loss of the Thresher a year ago.

The U.S. program carries construction through only about another two or three years, when building of 41 Polaris and 44 attack submarines will have been completed and the last of them put into fitting-out yards for final work.

The Soviet Union has given no indication of a termination date for her atomic submarine program.

As the Soviets have progressed into the atomic submarine field, they appear to have eased off on some of the supersecrecy which surrounded their effort at the outset of the attempt to catch up or surpass the United States.

From time to time, Soviet nuclear-powered submarines are seen surfaced, whereas before they probably operated close to home or in arctic waters immediately north of the Soviet homeland. Those reported as sighted, up to now, have been in the eastern Atlantic region.

The estimated production rate for the Soviets is not broken down between missile-firing and attack submarines.

LBJ's Heart Evidently Doing Fine Despite Whirlwind Pace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite the fact the President, ever since he took office, has maintained a fast and vigorous working schedule—ranging from sudden airplane trips to fast-paced on-the-hoof news conferences held on the quarter-mile driveway behind the White House.

That was the indication from the White House today in answer to a query concerning the state of the President's health.

The query was motivated by about his energetic pace—in view of his history of having had one heart attack.

However, there are indications the President knows how to mix rest and relaxation with his fast-stepping work day.

The White House said Johnson's latest electrocardiograph examination—a test of his heart function—showed a normal finding. The same is true of his pulse, blood pressure and breathing rate.

Furthermore, there is "no enlargement of the heart," the White House said. It was the first technical word on Johnson's health since Dec. 4, shortly after he took office.

None of Johnson's own doctors—and he has them in various parts of the country as well as the White House—were available for interviews on the subject.

But one doctor outside the White House—who has nothing to do with President Johnson's case—told a reporter the information given out by the White House, together with the obvious fact that Johnson has been leading a fast work pace, add up to this, in his opinion: "The fact that he has been able to maintain the pace gives reassurance that his coronary attack of 1955 was well-healed."

It Wouldn't Help Salem

Salem would have everything to lose and nothing to gain if it were to join a combined Columbiana County Health District. The frequently-discussed proposal to include all communities in one general health district was the subject of another exploratory meeting Monday night at Linton.

In the first place, the city of Salem unquestionably has the most efficient health department of any area of the county—urban or rural. Salem would gain nothing by joining a cumbersome health district where public health services could well be sub-standard, based on present performances.

Even on a cost basis, Salem is far out

Salem citizens will not benefit from any such program, however, and most health officials will agree.

Let Constitution Alone

We admire the earnest people who want children to grow up in the knowledge and reverence of a Supreme Being. We hope they will heed the testimony of equally earnest and devout people before the House Judiciary Committee that tampering with the First Amendment to the Constitution is no way to inculcate devotion and humility in the young.

We hope they also will realize that Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who wants to tamper with the Constitution, has an ulterior motive to chastise the U. S. Supreme Court for its 1954 ruling on school integration.

He and other Southern irreconcilables are conducting a vendetta against the Supreme Court. Its ruling that political authority cannot dictate what prayers and

The Young At Heart

"Old Rockin' Chair's Got Me," a song made popular a number of years ago by Mildred Bailey, can't apply to our Senior Citizens club which is marking the observance of National Senior Citizens Week by just being more active than usual.

These some 300 happy oldsters are participating in several special events, a highlight to be "open house" at their Memorial Building headquarters on Saturday. It ought to be a golden opportunity for the public to drop in and learn the secret of "staying young." In fact, there might be a few more "youngsters" around Salem who might like to join the outstanding local organization.

Happy anniversary, "kids!"

Addled

Sunburn gets me in a new place each year. This time, the target area was the back of my ears. It never got me there before.

I was planting trees — 400 seedlings in one day. Most of the time I was bending over to lift the seedlings out of a bucket of mud, to arrange their root system in the wedge-shaped opening they were going to be planted in, and finally to pack the dirt around them when the opening was forced shut. I was over-exposed.

The day's work that had been laid out called for 500 trees to be planted, but at the end of 400 Truman Appleseed was out of gas. Which reminds me that on television one night recently a musical thing about the Appleseed legend was presented.

It depicted Johnny Appleseed as a young man with a sense of high purpose who walked hundreds of miles propagating apple trees solely for the sake of propagating apple trees. This is the opposite of the legend I have found credible, which is that Johnny Appleseed was a daffy old party who had this thing in his head about planting seeds. He wandered about, sticking appleseeds in the ground. He wasn't right in the head, one of those amiable bums we don't have any more because they're living on government money now.

SOME PEOPLE think I am not right in the head when I plant trees. They want to know what good the trees will do, especially when I say some of them are buckeyes. They say the trees aren't good for anything.

All the good trees will do me was done when I put them in the ground and sunburned my ears. The satisfaction that came from planting them was the only possible reward.

I hope most of them will survive and grow, and it will be pleasant to look at them if they do. But no specific good will come of this. Even if I could live two lifetimes, no good could come of it.

But in spite of the discomfort of sunburn on the backs of my ears, I feel good about this thing I resolved to do and now have all but finished. Another 100 trees or so and I will have planted 750 trees for another generation to do with as it pleases.

I have added this much to the comfort of Earth. Needless to say, it added nothing to the comfort of the tree-planter. Not only did the backs of my ears get sunburned, but my back grew weary and my feet ached from walking, spading and stomping.

If anyone had told me I had to do it, I'd have whistled for the FBI and the SPCA. But on the basis of doing it because I wanted to, it was a pleasant experience.

I takes one to know one, and Johnny Appleseed and I are kindred spirits. I know what made him tick. He was addled. The backs of His ears were sunburned, too.

"Tell Me, What's Really In There?"

Coast-to-Coast Strike

By VICTOR RIESEL

The Negro labor leader who conceived and launched last year's massive march on Washington now is quietly working on a call for a coast-to-coast one-day work stoppage.

It was the sonorous voice of A. Philip Randolph, the lone Negro AFL-CIO vice president, which convinced other Negro leaders last spring that a gigantic rally could be held in the Capital. Now Randolph, who also heads the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, is again using his persuasiveness to convince other integrationist leaders that a call for a one-day work stoppage would be answered by more than a million workers.

Negro and white workers would be asked not to report to their jobs but instead to stay home, arrange prayer vigils or go to church for the day. No date has been chosen but there is talk of calling the one-day "strike" on Aug. 28 to mark the anniversary of the Washington march.

There is need only to let the Constitution strictly alone while heeding the Supreme Court's rulings on the matter.

And there is special need to understand what the Wallaces are up to when they jump into this fight. They are trying to discredit the U. S. Supreme Court for ruling that the 14th Amendment means what it says about civil rights.

By Truman Twill

Support from these groups appears inevitable. Then, with the backing of the same unions which threw themselves into the 1963 march on Washington, the one-day stoppage could roll and keep workers from huge factories, transportation facilities and service industries across the land—and set a precedent for a series of stay-aways.

far Western industrial areas.

In his resolution and in the official call to the NALC convention, Randolph calls for a series of marches in many key areas. However, a check with the council's national officers in their headquarters on 125th St., New York City, discloses that only four Southern cities are targets: Atlanta, Jacksonville, Tampa, and Sheffield, Ala.

OTHERWISE, the Negro council is concentrating on New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Baltimore, Indianapolis, Buffalo, Jersey City, Oakland, Omaha, St. Louis, Youngstown, Cincinnati, according to Joe Overton.

The first NALC demonstration will be held at noonday in Cleveland on the convention's opening day.

"But let us not wait until the convention," Randolph exhorts in his official call for the gathering of delegates from AFL-CIO unions in 31 cities. "In every metropolitan center of the country, chapters of the NALC should mobilize Marches for Freedom From Poverty through Fair and Full Employment, composed of black and white workers. Local chapters should seek the cooperation of the NAACP, the National Urban League, Congress of Racial Equality, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, Southern Christian Leadership Conference and other civil rights groups."

Support from these groups appears inevitable. Then, with the backing of the same unions which threw themselves into the 1963 march on Washington, the one-day stoppage could roll and keep workers from huge factories, transportation facilities and service industries across the land—and set a precedent for a series of stay-aways.

Outmoded Treaty

By DAVID HOFFMAN
Herald Tribune News Service

A musty, 1928 treaty still contains ugly, often catastrophic news for families who lost their breadwinner in an international air accident. Dependents of those who died in the two most recent jet-liner tragedies—the unsolved crashes at Elton, Md., and New Orleans—have learned by now of its key provisions, and several have asked the Congress to explain why the United States still adheres to this anachronistic pact.

In essence, the 34-year-old "Warsaw Convention" places a ceiling of $8,291 or 125,000 old French francs, on the damages a U. S. airline need pay for injuring or killing one of its international passengers. If the traveler's dependents require more, they must prove the airline deliberately did dangerous things to imperil the safety of a flight, almost as if it were bent on self-destruction. Or, they must sue someone else.

But unless the second proves the ice resulted from the airline's willful misconduct, he must settle for $8,291 under the Warsaw-imposed ceiling, even though he did not set foot in an airplane.

In awarding damages, the court cannot consider his out-of-pocket expenses, nor can it determine whether he has been maimed or forced to discontinue his profession as a result of the fall.

The Warsaw liability limit was doubled on air routes between some 30 nations when The Hague Protocol became effective last August. But the U. S. is not one of them.

President Eisenhower did urge the Senate to ratify The Hague Protocol, and similar action was recommended by a Cabinet-level committee on aviation, but $8,291 is still the U. S. rule even though U. S. airlines are the most prosperous in the world.

A PROPOSAL that would require the airlines to insure each international passenger for $50,000 has been bouncing around the White House, the Civil Aeronautics Board, the State Department and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for almost two years now. But there is little pressure to enact the measure, for none of the vested interests in aviation is particularly pleased with it.

During the last polling, the Department of Commerce plumped for a $16,582 liability limit plus a written warning to each passenger that this is all his carrier can be made to pay.

The airlines protested that the proposal would drive up the cost of their insurance by as much as 500 per cent. Trial lawyers argued that such insurance would invite sabotage and lead to a new rash of aerial bombings, especially over countries where $50,000 represents an immense fortune.

Certainly, this is not the helpless infant that once needed protection.

EVEN AT BEST, charge the critics, the Warsaw Convention is an imperfect document. To illustrate, suppose that two passengers fall while climbing the icy ramp of a local service air liner parked at, say, Buffalo Airport. Both suffer serious injuries.

Insurance companies advise the family breadwinner to carry eight to nine times his annual salary in insurance.

Political Tactics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Johnson soon will have to decide whether he had better reach out for more of the "folksy" vote or try to regain some of the "dignity" vote he recently may have lost.

Both Governor Nelson Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater tried "folksy" tactics in the New Hampshire primary, but the dignified and silent ambassador, Henry Cabot Lodge far away in Viet Nam won over both of them. Promptly the Arizona senator announced that he wasn't going to pursue such tactics thereafter and would endeavor to present a different image appealing to the thought-folksy citizens.

Many a politician has made the mistake of assuming that the best way to win votes is to do a lot of handshaking and baby kissing. This hardly swings the majority. What mainly influences the votes of the people are policies, national or international, that touch them in vital spots, including the pocketbook.

News items on political personalities affect the sensitivity of individual voters differently. It came as a surprise, for instance, to many people the other day that there was such an outcry from dog lovers when the President pulled the ears of his two Beagles. The inclination of some was to regard this as a joke, while others said it was the act of a cruel man.

It was very wise of Mr. Johnson, on the other hand, to make his tour in the Appalachian region and to manifest publicly his sympathy with the poverty-stricken. This was not only good politics but the act of a man who is humane and sympathetic.

So it all depends on what "gimmicks" are tried and what emphasized by the press, despite maneuvers are likely to be the casual manner in which they are originally carried out.

BASICALLY, however, a vast number of voters, especially women, like to see their president act always in a dignified manner. The late President Kennedy was, almost without exception, dignified in his public appearances, but he, too, perhaps unwittingly, made at least one slip. He was photographed by the press as he appeared in bathing trunks on the sands of a California beach while a lot of young women crowded around him to shake hands.

This led to a good deal of critical comment, not because it was in any sense an improper scene but because many people 35 YEARS AGO — A record 115 seniors will be graduated from Salem High School this year, according to school officials.

A capacity crowd enjoyed a concert presented last evening at the Salem High School by the Quaker City Band.

Today is Wednesday, May 6, the 127th day of 1964. There are 239 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1942, Gen. Jonathan Wainwright surrendered Corregidor, marking the end of major resistance to the Japanese conquest of the Philippines. For 150 days, American troops had withstood assault by crack enemy forces, heavy artillery and wave after wave of bombers. Defeat was inevitable and Wainwright concluded nothing could be gained by continued resistance.

On this date: In 1777, General Burgoyne took command of the British army at Quebec.

In 1840, the first postage stamp was issued in England.

In 1937, 36 persons were killed when the dirigible Hindenburg crashed in flames at Lakehurst, N.J.

In 1941, Joseph Stalin became premier of the Soviet Union.

In 1944, American bombers were attacking transportation centers in Romania.

Ten years ago—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) led an attack by Democratic leaders on administration foreign policy, indicating an end of bipartisanship.

Five years ago — President Eisenhower took his White House guest, Sir Winston Churchill, on a tour of the Gettysburg battlefield and the nearby Eisenhower farm.

One year ago—The military junta in South Korea agreed to hold an election for a civil government in the fall.

Are you suddenly seeing yourself in a new way? Does last year's hair style seem just not right with this Spring's clothes? Picture yourself with a straight hairdo. There's more to this than simply combing your hair down and combing it up. Everything is different from cut to finish-out. Hair must be cut with an all-one-length. Surprisingly, a permanent wave is the basis of the straight hairdo. It will give your hair control and body to hold the style.

With an eye on the warmer weather, have a good permanent now. It's a "must."

DEAR HELOISE: I keep an old toothbrush in my laundry room and it is very handy to clean out pockets and cuffs before placing my wash in the machine.

MRS. HAROLD ROGERS.

DEAR HELOISE: I wonder how many other readers have been plagued with a black mark on the woodwork around windows caused by aluminum Venetian blinds.

I had this problem and finally decided to put a little strip of clear tape on the edge of the Venetian blind where it rubbed the woodwork.

It works fine and is well worth the time. It prevents the black marks and saves me lots of rubbing and scrubbing of the woodwork.

MRS. WILLIAM BOYER.

DEAR GALS: I don't know what kind of blinds you have, or what type paint you have on your woodwork, but this is a great idea. There are many kinds of tape on the market today to suit this need — you might even want to use a matching or contrasting color.

And remember, there is always that old cushioned corn pad! Try it. They work, too.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that when peeling and chopping onions, all you have to do, to remove the odor from your hands, is to hold a stainless steel object, such as a spoon or knife, so that the stainless steel part touches all your fingers.

Put your hands under cold running water for a few minutes and let the water run over it. Presto! No onion odor.

the board feels the debt involving the sewage disposal plant and interceptor sewer will be eliminated within the eight to 10-year period allotted for payment originally.

Solicitor Jack Kuhlman was instructed to draw up an ordinance accepting the new water.

Opposition to the proposal of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad for installation of Fall-Safe automatic crossing gates at the S. Main, S. Elm and possibly Bell St. crossings was voiced by residents during the meeting. Fred Simons of Oilwell Rd. commented that he objected to the installation of automatic gates as he considered manual control to be safer than automatic controls in the event of mechanical failure.

Simons also objected to the three men now operating the crossing gates losing their jobs. A. M. McLaughlin, school patrolman and former railroad engineer, gave reasons for objecting to the new gates through his own experience in the employ of the railroad and urged Council to give serious thought to the action. Saying the town has nothing to gain through the proposal, McLaughlin suggested that a subway be installed at the Main St. crossing, eliminating the need for gates.

Fire Chief Marcus Hum said he was concerned about the gates in the event the fire truck would be called to answer an alarm and could not be raised manually. Hum stated that at the present time, gate watchmen permit the fire trucks to pass through when trains are switching. Otherwise, the trucks must wait until the track is clear.

Council approved the first reading of an ordinance allowing the railroad to install the gates; however, a second meeting with railroad officials will be scheduled in view of the opposition received.

Ray Fisher of 633 S. Main St. submitted a petition from residents of that area requesting oiling of S. Main St. Members of the street commission will handle the matter.

Robert Patchen, Columbiana's civil defense director, requested that mileage be paid to Robert Aiken, a member of the civil defense staff, attending a radiological instructors' course at Louisville. Council agreed to reimburse Aiken.

Charles Wright, manager of Columbia Gas of Ohio Co., presented a gas rate to Council based on the same rate included in the agreement which expired May 1. The only change noted was a one and one-half cent increase due to the fuel cost clause effective June 1.

An amendment to the wage ordinance for patrolmen was requested by Police Chief William McGuckin, concerning reimbursement to officers for time spent for court appearances when not on regular duty. Kuhlman was instructed by Council to make the necessary changes in the ordinance. At the present time, officers are reimbursed for their time spent in court by the county, but the money is placed in the police retirement fund.

Fire Chief Hum suggested that Council take under advisement the possibility of a new fire station within the next six years when a new fire truck must be purchased. Hum said the present fire station would not be large enough to house a new truck. He added that construction along W. Friends St. makes it difficult for fire trucks to enter and leave the station and that more storage space is needed.

In other business, a resolution was passed directing the clerk of the board of public affairs to advertise for bids for a sewer-cleaning machine via suspension of rules.

Work Resumes On Deck of Overpass

With the end of a steelworkers' strike allowing work to resume on the deck of the W. State St. overpass today, Robert Pautot, job superintendent for the A.P. O'Horo Co., job contractors, reaffirmed his statement that traffic should be moving over the structure by June 1.

The steelworkers strike was holding up work because reinforcement bars were needed in two sections of the deck before the concrete could be poured.

On section, a 65-foot stretch, is expected to be poured Friday, with the final 55-foot portion to be poured about May 13. It takes about two weeks "curing" time before the pavement can be traveled over.

Pautot indicated earlier this week that he would ask the state highway department to grant the city permission to use the overpass as soon as possible, even if all the cleaning up and miscellaneous odd jobs are not completed.

However, some of the senators said they would decline the invitations and remain behind for the votes.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Michalk of the Smith-Goshen Road, RD 2, Beloit, was destroyed by fire this morning.

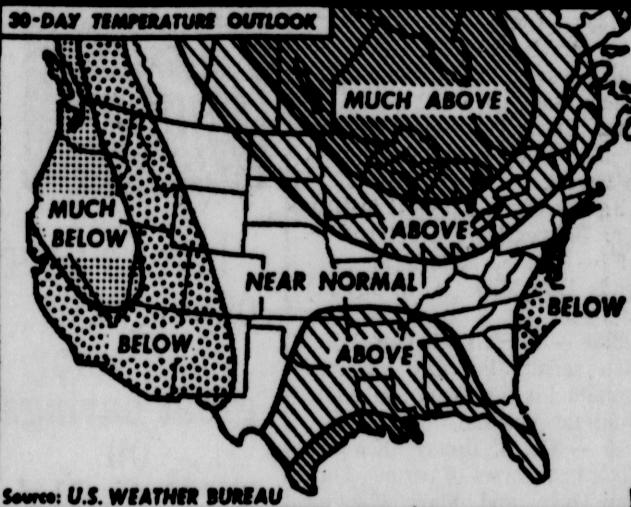

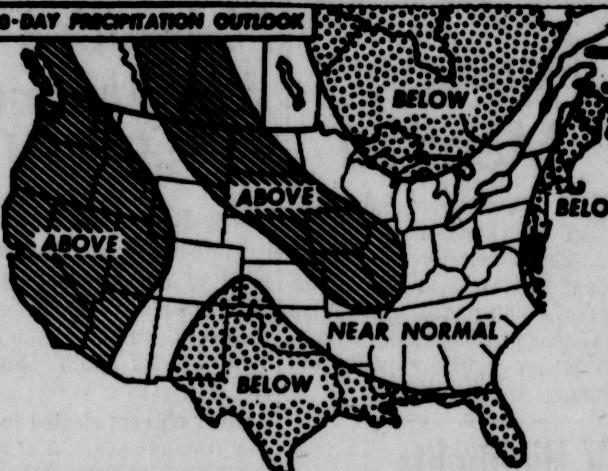

The structure was still burning at noon, with members of the Beloit and Damascus Volunteer Fire Departments on the scene.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered at 2:50 a.m. and 14 members of the Beloit department manned two trucks in response to a call from Mr. Michalk.

At that time the fire was confined to the second story, which was considerably damaged with water damage to the first floor. Firemen remained on the scene until 5:30 a.m.

At 10:45 this morning Mrs. Lyle Bedell, who lives across the road from the Michalk residence, called the fire department and said that the house was "burning furiously."

No one was injured and Mr. eight children are staying with relatives in Alliance.

U.S. tariffs, though twice cut in half over the last 30 years, still are in many cases much higher than the tariffs of other countries.

A rule is to be worked out that will cut these higher American tariffs by the full 50 percent and reduce the corresponding European tariffs by a lower margin, perhaps 25 percent.

Candidates' Lineup For Fall

Here's the way the candidates will line up in the Nov. 3 general election:</

Beaver Local Thinclads Hand United 70-48 Setback

Diddle Sets Century Mark Both Schools Gear For County Classic

Roger Diddle, who set a record for his school in the century, took two first and a second, and was a member of the winning 880-yard relay team as Beaver Local whipped United 70-48 at the Beavers' stadium Tuesday.

The Beavers and Golden Eagles will now concentrate on the Columbiana County track and field meet at East Palestine Friday.

Diddle set the 100-yard dash record in 10.2 seconds. The old mark of 10.3 was set by him during a meet a year ago.

He was also first in the 220-yard dash in 24.5, and came in second in the broad jump.

THE BEAVERS were first in nine of the 14 events held. Coach Ed Stevens guided his aggregation to its seventh victory in nine starts.

Gene Metzgar led the Golden Eagles as he took the 880-yard dash in 2:07.6. He placed third in the state meet at Columbus in 2:03 last year.

He will also be defending his title in the half-mile race in the county classic. He was first in 2:06 during the event here in 1963.

METZGAR ALSO took the broad jump yesterday with a leap of 18 feet, 9 inches. He was a member of the winning mile relay unit that was timed in 3:51.4.

Warren Bradley took his specialty, the high hurdles in 15.8 seconds. He tied his teammate Jim McLaughlin in the 180-yard low hurdles in 23.1 seconds.

He finished third in the broad jump and was a member of the half-mile relay unit.

Sophomore Fritz Zeigler led a sweep in the 440-yard dash for the Golden Eagles. He was timed in 55 seconds flat, and followed to the tape by teammates Bill McGranahan and Dick Farmer.

SENIOR KEN VOTAW of United, who is one of the district's best high jumpers this season, was sidelined yesterday with a back injury.

Coach Mel Klinger expects that his hard working athlete, who also competes in the shot put and discus throw, will be ready for the county meet.

McLaughlin, after tying Bradley in the low hurdles, went on to take the pole vault for Beaver Local by clearing 10 ft. Sophomore Marty Briceland continues to show improvement in the mile run. He took the distance race in 5:02.2 for the Golden Eagles.

Liverpool Grid Coach Accepts Big Red Post

Bob Hedmond, who compiled a 7-3 record last season, has resigned as head football coach at East Liverpool to accept a position as assistant backfield coach at Steubenville Big Red.

He had been in the Potters' coaching system seven years, four as an assistant and three as head mentor.

His number - one assistant, Ray Peduzzi, also turned in his resignation, but plans to stay on at East Liverpool as a teacher.

He had been a grid assistant for seven years. Blaine Morton, former Salem High grid boss, and an assistant at East Liverpool the past season, resigned earlier this spring to accept a backfield post at Massillon.

There are now three varsity football vacancies open at East Liverpool, and one at the junior high level.

UNITED TRACK SQUAD — United school, with several outstanding athletes, is preparing its squad for the 61st annual Columbiana County track and field meet to be held at East Palestine Friday.

Salem Frosh Lose Meet To Rebels

Salem's freshman track team nearly pulled off a big upset as it dropped a thrilling 59 1/2-58 1/2 decision to Crestview Saturday at Reilly Stadium Tuesday.

It was the last meet of the campaign for the Red and Black who finished with a 5-2 record.

Terry Sheets took two firsts and a third, and was a member of the Quakers' 880-yard relay team.

He set a school record in the 220-yard dash in 24.4 seconds. The old standard was held by Tom Bauman, who ran the short race in 24.5 during the 1960 season.

SHETS, an eighth grader, took the century in 11.3 and was third in the broad jump.

Crestview showed its strength in the distance races and the hurdles. The Rebels took the mile relay.

Tony Altomare was a double winner for Crestview. He took the 120-yard high hurdles in 18.1 seconds and the mile run in 5:02.4.

Coach Bing Newton put Chuck Drakulich into the broad jump for the first time this season, and he won the event with a 18.1.

Coach Al Klinger expects that his hard working athlete, who also competes in the shot put and discus throw, will be ready for the county meet.

McLaughlin, after tying Bradley in the low hurdles, went on to take the pole vault for Beaver Local by clearing 10 ft.

Sophomore Marty Briceland continues to show improvement in the mile run. He took the distance race in 5:02.2 for the Golden Eagles.

Indians Take On Orioles

Tribe Starts Long Home Stand Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians came home today riding in first place in the American League and the big question was: Will they continue the brand of baseball they showed fans on the road?

The Tribe, which holds a half-game lead over Chicago, displayed some flashes of brilliant pitching and a lot of power while winning eight and losing four on the road.

One of the brightest spots on the road trip was rookie Tommy John's sparkling three-hit victory over Baltimore. John is expected to be one of the pitchers named for the weekend series here with the New York Yankees.

The trip ended on a sour note when Dave Morehead of the Boston Red Sox threw a five-hitter and blanked the Indians 4-0 Tuesday.

The Indians made five errors in back of pitcher Pete Ramos — three by Woodie Held. Ten Indians were left on base and 10 struck out as Ramos' record was evened at 1-1.

Cleveland gave indications of giving Morehead a rough time by loading the bases in the first inning on singles by Dick Howser and Vic Davalillo and a Ringo helped form a mighty forward wall which helped Hurling to scoring championships in 1959, '60 and '61, and Taylor to the scoring and ground-gaining titles in 1962.

The 24-year-old Gros, the Packers' No. 1 draft choice three years ago after starring at Louisiana State, had little chance to show his wares as understudy to Taylor. The 230-pound speedster carried only 77 times for 367 yards and four touchdowns in limited service for Green Bay.

In exchange, the trade-happy Eagles, swinging their fourth major trade since March 11, gave up linebacker LeRoy Caffey and rights to their No. 1 selection in the NFL draft next December.

The trade left the Packers without an experienced center on their roster. Lombardi plans to test offensive tackle Bob Skoronski at the post.

Ringo, Green Bay's seventh draft choice in 1953, was a key man in the deal although he will be 33 next Nov. 21. An all-NFL for the past seven years, Ringo was a key blocker as the Packers powered their way to Western Division titles in 1960, '61 and '62, winning the NFL championship the latter two years.

The Packers posted an 11-2 record last season and finished second to the Chicago Bears in the West. Ringo played his 10th straight season without missing a game, but some observers felt he had slowed.

Washburn Returns From Minors, Leads Cardinals To 2-1 Triumph

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

"We couldn't want him much better," said St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane. "It means an awful lot to us to have him back."

Keane was talking about pitcher Ray Washburn, who Tuesday night made his first start since returning from the minors and scattered seven Philadelphia hits before needing ninth-inning relief help in the Cardinals' 2-1 victory over the Phillips.

Washburn has purposely been brought along slowly by Keane, who feels the young right-hander figures heavily in the Cardinals' National League pennant chances. A healthy Washburn would give St. Louis a starting staff that also includes Ernie Broglio, Bob Gibson, Curt Simmons and Roger Craig.

Our restaurant section is getting to be a very busy place, especially on weekends.

If you could get here earlier in the week we could give you faster service. From Monday through Thursday you will always find a seat. I don't like to see people have to wait very long to get served, but until we get a larger kitchen and more dining area, there will be times when they may not get the fastest service on weekends.

I don't like to stop advertising so I will keep asking for more business earlier in the week.

Barry Garners Indiana Votes

Wallace Stirs Up Problems For Dems; Wilkinson Winner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again voters have proved how much they like a famous name — and George C. Wallace, Alabama's states' rights governor, has proved he can stir up problems for Democrats even while losing.

Seven widely scattered primaries were held Tuesday in which:

—Robert Taft Jr. and Bud Wilkinson scored landslide victories;

—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. ran well in a race from which he had withdrawn;

—Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona picked up Indiana's 32 convention votes in his chase after the Republican presidential nomination;

—Wallace lost to President Johnson's man in Indiana, Gov. Matthew E. Welsh, but with around 30 per cent of the votes ana, and Stassen collected the windfall. In New Hampshire, where Henry Cabot Lodge won with write-ins, Stassen ran a bad sixth and last, with a trifl over one per cent of the vote.

Or take Ohio. Here Rep. Robert Taft Jr. made his first move toward taking over the Senate seat held by his late father, the "Mr. Republican" of his party. Taft won the GOP nomination with a knockout victory over Secretary of State Ted Brown.

But Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young, a bouncy 75-year-old who wants to keep his job, found the voters like John H. Glenn Jr. even though bathroom fall had taken him out of the race. Glenn's name stayed on the ballot, and about one-third of the Democrats voted for him anyway.

Elsewhere around the country there were these developments:

OKLAHOMA — Former football coach Bud Wilkinson was an easy winner in his try for the GOP senatorial nomination. His opponent was to be decided in a runoff between the incumbent Sen. J. Howard Edmondson and State Sen. Fred Harris.

ALABAMA — No question about a Wallace victory. Once more Alabama Democrats are in full revolt against the national party.

In Macon County, Ala., scene of racial unrest, three out of four Negroes seeking office appeared to have won Democratic nomination.

FLORIDA — Spessard L. Holland, a senator for 18 years, won the Democratic nomination for a fourth term.

Six Democrats were running for governor. Mayor Haydon Burns of Jacksonville and Mayor Robert King High of Miami won spots in the May 26 runoff.

NEW MEXICO — Land Commissioner E. S. Johnny Walker had a narrow lead over State Sen. Fabian Chavez in their race for the Democratic nomination as U.S. representative.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA — Purely local stuff here. The Rev. E. Franklin Jackson, former district chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, won with his slate for Democratic party offices.

Getting around to the scorecard on some of the major races, here's the breakdown on Indiana:

With 4,240 of 4,416 precincts votes to Wallace's 165,437.

Goldwater led Stassen by 388,131 to 169,118.

In Ohio, with 10,637 of 13,311 precincts reporting, Taft had buried Brown, 505,551 to 139,985.

Young was ahead of Glenn, 3,813 to 169,118.

Oh, yes. Everyone knows the gist of what a candidate says when he wins and when he loses, but what of the candidate who runs well in a race from which he officially withdrew?

Down in Houston, Tex., John Glenn said his only hopes now are for improving health.

"Just plan to get better," he said. "My progress is coming along pretty good."

8 Countians Acquire U.S. Citizenship

Eight Columbiana County residents, aged 13 to 54, received U. S. citizenship Tuesday in common pleas court, Lisbon.

Arvid C. Boyes of the Cleveland office of the bureau of naturalization supervised the proceedings. The new citizens received instructions from Judges Raymond S. Bazzard and Joel H. Sharp.

Miss Diana Wilson of the clerk of courts office administered the oath of citizenship. Sixty members of the Lisbon senior civics class watched the proceedings in observance of Lisbon law day sponsored by the Columbiana County Bar Association, with Atty. James Primm presiding.

Boyes described requirements fulfilled by the new citizens, and the Daughters of American Revolution presented flags to the group. Women of the local chapter of National Association of Catholic Women served coffee, tea and cookies.

Receiving citizenship here: Johanna Marie Ludwig, 29, of 250 State St., Leetonia, German; Eileen Mary McKinnon, 39, of East Liverpool, England; Andris Baltputnis, 18, Salineville RD 1, Germany; Anna Kubankin, 13, Salem RD, Germany; Carmelina Cetino, 30, Salem RD, Italy; Stanley Michniak, 40, of 1000 Prospect St., Salem, Poland; Raymond A. Costigan, 54, and Julia Costigan, 53, both of Summitville, Canada.

Actress Breaks Contract, Kenley Awarded $3,200

NEW YORK (AP) — An Ohio summer theater producer has been awarded $3,200 because Carol Channing broke a contract to appear in "The Millionairess" for him last September.

Attorney Charles Mintz said a court, awarded the sum in March to John Kenley of Cleveland, producer-owner of a summer theater in Warren, Ohio. The award was from the Theater Guild of New York.

Mintz said the court, approving the findings of an arbitration panel, awarded Kenley the $3,200 for out-of-pocket expenses, but refused punitive damages. Kenley had asked for a total of $11,000.

The attorney said the decision was precedent-setting in the theater business.

Mintz said Miss Channing, now starring in the Broadway hit musical, "Hello, Dolly," canceled out of Kenley's show a month before it was scheduled. Kenley replaced her with Kathryn Crosby, wife of singer Bing Crosby.

The show, Mintz said, did a good business in the 3,000-seat theater with Mrs. Crosby, but Kenley took a loss on advance printing and publicity. In addition, Mintz said, "people who pay to see A shouldn't have to take B."

Salem Tool Co. To Display Auger

The Salem Tool Company will feature a new coal recovery auger when it participates in the American Mining Congress coal vein immediately above it in Cleveland Monday through Thursday.

The newly-designed auger has many features and appeals to the operators of such equipment. It is of a compact design, simple to operate, has improved hydraulics, is highly maneuverable and has a low maintenance cost.

This auger drill is particularly effective in narrow pits with rock bottom. Design permits cutting head to be started in coal vein immediately above rock bottom, if required.

More than 12,000 officials and operating men from the nation's coal fields, manufacturers of mining equipment, and visitors from many foreign countries are expected to view the array of industrial exhibits.

Some 215 manufacturers will be represented with exhibits.

New Books at Salem Public Library

NON-FICTION

DIPLOMAT AMONG WARRIORS by Robert Murphy. This is an important book, one which not only should be read widely, but will be for it is fascinating reading. Robert Murphy tells the story of his work from 1917 until his retirement in 1959. During all of this time he was an employee of the State Department, but for a good many years he was the personal representative of the President and hence much of what he did never reached State Department records.

POLICEWOMAN by Dorothy Uhnak. A compelling story which is almost impossible to put down, this details the training and experiences of a police-woman in New York City. Some of the episodes are as thrilling as the best suspense stories, some are sickening, but the sum total is a deep respect for the work of dedicated police officers.

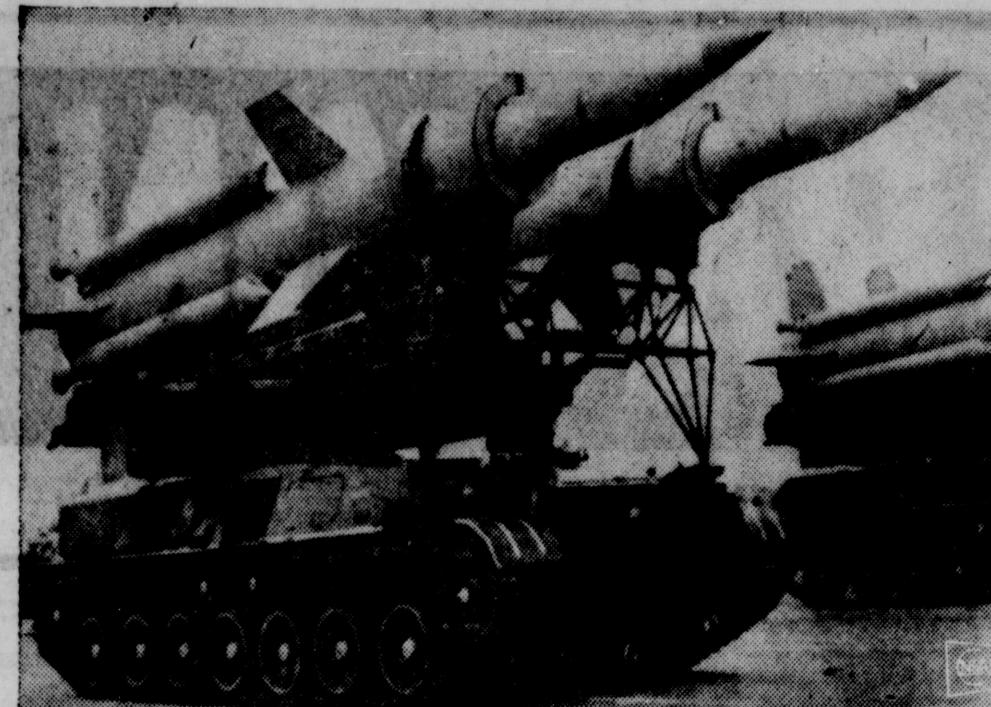

THE GUIDANCE NURSERY SCHOOL by Evelyn Pitcher and

Louise Ames. This book is divided into five sections as follows - The child; The teacher; The school; The child in school; The parent. It is designed for both teachers and parents, and is a Gesell Institute product.

THE ARITHMETIC OF COMPUTERS by Norman A. Crowder. A tutotext, this explains the two number systems used in electronic computers, octal and binary. As with all Tutor texts, the reader completes one lesson to his own satisfaction before going on to the next.

EFFECTIVE FLOWERING SHRUBS by Michael Haworth-Booth. This will be useful to many gardeners, even though it is an English publication. The illustrations in full color are both lovely to look at and helpful in choosing shrubs.

NEVER IN THE KITCHEN WHEN COMPANY ARRIVES by Theresa A. Morse. There is hardly a single recipe here which could be found in a run-of-the-mill cookbook. Scattered through the text are kitchen helps and bits and pieces of information about making entertaining easier so that you will want to read the whole book.

NEW RED WEAPON—Unveiled for the annual May Day parade in Red Square, twin rockets with fins fore and aft are trundled along the street on a self-propelled launching platform. The Russians call the rocket "a new formidable weapon."

THE GRAPHICS OF COMMUNICATION by Arthur T. Turnbull and Russell N. Baird. "Comprehensive in scope and rich in detail, The Graphics of Communication discusses typography, layout, and design as they apply to all printed media including newspapers, magazines, books, folders, booklets, and advertising." The foregoing quotation is from the book jacket, and seems to be an accurate description of the contents of the book.

IMAGES OF AMERICA LIVING by Alan Gowans. A very fine, comprehensive book about the various types of homes and furniture to be found in the United States, much of it still existing from the Colonial period. The author discusses these things as they stem from the general culture of the people, he discusses trends as well as details, and ends with our present century.

A MILLION AND ONE NIGHTS by Terry Ransaye. This is a reissue of a history of the motion picture which came out originally in 1926. It is valuable now because of the additional light it sheds on the career of Thomas A. Edison, and its detailed listings of his early accomplishments with moving pictures.

THE REICHSTAG FIRE by Fritz Tobia. Herr Tobias has spent a great deal of time sifting and re-reading literally tons of evidence about this often-told event - an event which enabled Hitler to consolidate his hold over the German people. Here it is related minute-by-minute as it actually happened.

COOPER'S CREEK by Alan Moorehead. Any book by Alan Moorehead is sure to be an interesting one, but this story of the first great inland expedition in his native Australia is classic in its tales of adventure and discovery, so much of which came to tragedy.

WHEN THE CHEERING STOPPED, by Gene Smith. The story of the last years of President Wilson, beginning with the illness and death of his first wife, this is not only very readable and interesting, but points up as perhaps nothing else could the great need for this country to make concrete plans for taking over the chief executive's work when he becomes too ill to function.

FICTION

THE KEEPERS OF THE HOUSE by Shirley Ann Grau. When Will Howland's wife died just after the birth of their daughter, he went on living as a widower and with his work, never finding the opportunity to court and marry another. But he did find a fine-souled Negro woman whom he brought in to keep house and by whom he had several more children. The story of all of them is very well told in this book.

PERDITA, GET LOST by Alan R. Jackson. A fast - paced feather-weight humorous story about a girl who loses her job in an advertising agency in New York, this is a good evening's entertainment.

A CANDLE IN HER HEART by Emilie Loring. Another light novel, this one has a mixture of romance and suspense, with a couple of robberies thrown in.

A FAIR DAY'S WORK by Nicholas Monsarrat. A story of a dock strike in Liverpool, this is somewhat labored and frankly not as good as the author usually produces, but somewhat still want to read it.

A MILLION PESOS by Pepe Romero. Against the background of Mexico City's back streets, this story of an elderly man who knows he is fated to win the biggest prize of all one day in the national lottery. His protegee is a young lottery ticket-seller who encourages him in this dream. The action is fast, the background perfectly drawn. The author is also an artist and a newspaper columnist.

KATIE'S YOUNG DOCTOR by Elizabeth Seifert. This author has already written fifty stories about doctors, nurses and their world, but show no slowing down in this one which concerns a woman doctor whose grown family becomes too much concerned when she takes an obvious interest in a young man who she feels ought to study medicine.

MISS LEONORA WHEN LAST SEEN by Peter Taylor. Sixteen short stories which are quite a bit above average in quality. Most of them have a Tennessee background. Both characters and plot show a wide range of knowledge.

FARMER TAKES A WIFE by Sheila Turner. The farmer is an English one and his wife is a farmer's daughter. Unlike in this country, British farmers' homes are in villages, with the farm lands usually at some distance and often in several different locations. This makes for a more concentrated interest in each other's affairs than one finds in rural America, and this author describes it charmingly as well as amusingly.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I just returned from the funeral of a good friend. While we were waiting for the minister I heard a woman say to her husband, "If I die before you do, Clarence, please remember I don't want glasses on my face when I am laid out. Glasses look foolish on a person whose eyes are closed."

The gentleman who was being buried had worn glasses for 10 years. His son put them on because he wanted his father to look as natural as possible.

People who always have worn glasses just don't look right without them.

I mentioned this to a few people and they all agree with me. Now I'd like to hear your views.—NO NAME PLEASE.

Dear No: The idea behind putting a corpse on display is to suggest that he is only sleeping. Since it is unlikely that the man slept with his glasses on, they should be left off for the funeral.

Love Go-Round

Dear Ann: I'm very much in love with my fiance. He is in love with my best friend. This he refuses to deny or admit it. We've discussed it in detail and is not imagination—it's fact. He also refuses to break our engagement because he says I will be a better wife for him and a better mother for his children.

When we are alone or with others I couldn't ask for a sweater guy. But when this girl is present it becomes painfully apparent that they have only for each other.

She is much prettier and livelier than I am and it isn't hard to see why he is in love with her. Yet he refuses to break off our engagement and marry her.

I plan to go ahead with the marriage, knowing all this, simply because I don't have the will power to give him up. Help, please.—A LEMMING?

Dear Lemming: You are determined to ignore your head and listen to your heart. Your fiance has chosen to ignore his heart and listen to his head.

If you marry him—and I'm reasonably sure you will—you'll be making a dreadful mistake. A lifetime is too long to live feeling you were the second choice.

Twixt Teens

Dear Ann: Our 16-year-old daughter, Mary, is a fair student. Last fall she began to date a boy 17. Rex has his own car so he drives Mary to school every morning.

After school he drives her home. But he doesn't just drop her off. He comes in and they have a snack and listen to records, dance, play table tennis in the basement or just talk. If my wife doesn't invite him to stay for dinner he leaves.

One hour later the phone rings. It's Rex calling Mary. They talk endlessly. Of course they are together every Friday, Saturday and Sunday night.

I've told my wife these kids are too chummy. She says it's okay because he is respectable and comes from a good family. What do you say?—OUT-SHOUTED.

Dear Out: I say Mary and Rex are seeing entirely too much of each other. Where do you think all this togetherness is going to lead?

If Rex wants to drive Mary to and from school, okay. But after-school visiting should be stopped. Friday and Saturday night dates are all right but no dating should be permitted.

ted on Sunday night.

Doesn't Rex have any interest in sports? What about Mary? No girl friends? No club activities? These two kids are stunting each other's growth. It's up to you, as parents, to call a halt.

Now 'Ear This

Dear Ann: I read with interest your recent column dealing with the little boy whose ears stuck out at right angles. The child was self-conscious about his ears and the children at school made his life miserable by teasing him. The boy's mother was undecided about surgery.

May I give that mother the benefit of my experience? Our son was born with ears that protruded badly. The doctor advised us to have his ears set back the summer before he entered kindergarten. He explained that the operation was a relatively simple one. The child was in the hospital only one night, and he never once complained of pain.

The results were wonderful. The boy looks so much better now, and his personality reflects confidence and friendliness. We can't help feeling sorry for children whose ears protrude because we know how easily it can be corrected. Please encourage her.—T.L.B.

Dear T.L.B.: Yours was one of dozens of letters I received supporting this procedure. I do not have the right to recommend surgery. I can only present the information. The parents must decide.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
